First Allied helps you stand apart from the competition with a number of turnkey marketing programs available only to our affiliated advisors. This growing roster of programs covers the client spectrum, meeting the prospecting needs of diverse advisors and their specific target markets.

The result? Advisors who have been fully engaged in our development program between 2008 and 2011 have produced 66 percent more than those who have not participated in the program during that same period.*

If you are searching for a broker/dealer that will invest in you throughout the entirety of your career, then look to First Allied. If you are the kind of advisor who is driven to reach new production levels while remaining true to your clients' best interests, give us a call. We are confident we are the home for advisors who truly want to build the business of their dreams.

*This figure is based upon an analysis covering 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2011 comparing the annual revenue growth of 509 advisors at First Allied. The advisors are broken into two groups and the annual difference in gross revenue growth between the groups is combined across the measurement periods. The first group represents 162 advisors who are fully engaged and participating in the First Allied University training and education program (i.e., engaged advisors). The second group represents 347 advisors who have not yet attended First Allied University and are not engaged in the business development program (i.e., non-engaged advisors). In order to be included in the study, the engaged and non-engaged advisors had to have measurable data for the entire measurement period. There were engaged and non-engaged advisors who were excluded due to inaccurate or incomplete data. As a result of the successful progression and evolution of the development program, the methodology of the data collection in 2008 differs from the data collection methodology in subsequent years included in this analysis. However, it is believed that the data represented above accurately reflects the impact on advisor growth during this time frame.
